CHANGE LIVES.

Stories that Unite us.

Time is running out...

February has arrived and all of us at United Way are working hard to meet our campaign goal of $1.72 million by the end of the month.

Every year, we see the needs in our community and we are committed to making a positive difference – to building a better community for each individual who calls Saint John, Kings & Charlotte their home.

We focus on local issues and local solutions, collaborating with the amazing people and organizations who work on the front lines in creating better futures for our residents.

I am excited to see what 2022 brings for our region.

Taeyo's story: Courage, resilience and love

Throughout his young life, 12-year-old Taeyo has only seen his father five times. His stepfather was cruel, angry and shunned him.

So when he was first enrolled in Big Brothers Big Sisters of Saint John, Taeyo was nervous. He was convinced he did not deserve a Big Brother.

"I was worried he would think I am annoying like my ex-step dad did, and I wasn't sure if he would want to be my friend," Taeyo says.

"But then I met Ben."

Annette's story: a lifetime of unhappiness overcome

Annette always thought that counselling could help her overcome her persistent unhappiness.

But with a hectic life of raising children, working and looking after the family home, she never felt there was time for that.

But after her children grew up and left home and Annette retired, she had no more excuses.

A friend told her about Family Plus Life Solutions, a United Way-funded agency that provides professional mental health counselling, education and advocacy for individuals, couples, families and children in Greater Saint John.

Then she met with her counsellor, Erin.

Help wanted: Volunteers drive essential service

Dial-a-ride programs in our region are lifelines. So many people depend on these services to help them get out for essentials like food and medical appointments as well as assisting them in opening up opportunities for a better future through job interviews and access to programs.

The United Way helps fund two of these indispensable services in our region – Charlotte Dial A Ride and Dial A Ride Fundy Regional Transportation.
